

chemins d'épices

*Spicy scents readings
méditerranéennes*

cardamome

badiane

poivre

basilic

sésame

paprika

poivre noir

cannelle

Éditions Rouge Safran

Detective novels

for children

suitable for 7-year-old children and over

COLLECTION CANNELLE

A novel suitable for 7-year-old children and over

I have wiped out the school-mistress !

Sophie Rigal-Goulard

When Thomas turns his hands to concocting a potion designed to make school-mistresses vanish in thin air, things seem to take a turn for the worse. Who is that mysterious inspector prowling around the school?

64 pages - 12 x 18 cm

A revolting dining-hall

Marie Mélisou

A new cook is now in charge of the school-cafeteria. "We've never seen anything like it!", pupils complain: "Bio-food is the only option, as well as silent meditation during meals, and the headmaster has turned sickeningly zen: it's high time we got organised and rebelled, isn't it?"

64 pages - 12 x 18 cm

Finding a fiancé for the teacher

Sophie Rigal-Goulard

How to help the teacher get over her disappointment in love ? The children in class would really like to know. Inconsolable, their teacher is replaced by someone horrible. Caroline has an idea : find a new fiancé for their teacher.

80 pages - 12 x 18 cm

The magical remote control

Stéphane Daniel

Paco, accompanied by his dog Sam, is strolling up and down the rows of a car boot sale. A strange man is offering the bargain of the century : for 10 pence, a television remote control in perfect working order. But what about this yellow button that mustn't be touched under any circumstances ? The seller plays a nasty malicious joke on the young boy, who then decides to take his revenge...

Beaten at his own game !

48 pages - 12 x 18 cm

Painfull sweet nothing

Raphaële Frier

Mona and Dimitri are secretly in love and send each other little love letters in class. However when the teacher catches Dimitiri out Mona does not own up. Full of regret she decides to take action.

48 pages - 12 x 18 cm

My father is a Diplodocus

Sylvie Mahé

Zoe hates her cousin Gregory ! Even more so when he drags her off to the museum to study Dinosaurs. Nevertheless... Where have Gregory and Zoe's father gone ? The last time she saw them, they were in the office of that old mummy Laclapus, the museum's director... And where have these miniature dinosaurs come from ? Zoe investigates...

Truth is sometimes funnier than we think !

64 pages - 12 x 18 cm

COLLECTION BADIANE

A novel – suitable for 9-year-old children and over

The Bear has no ID

Virginie Ducoulombier

During her Easter holidays, Linda, a great animal lover, finds herself at the hands of a strange hunter, bent on killing the bear wandering on the slopes of the Canigou mountains. With Francisco's help (a friend of hers), will she manage, to outstrip her enemy and save the beast?

176 pages - 12 x 18,5 cm

My salamander, my treasure!

Virginie Ducoulombier

Is it the pure air of the Pyrenees, or the caves of the Canigou mountain? Whatever it is, Linda has been endowed with a spirit of magic! This is her second adventure in the Catalan region. Our young city-dweller has to deal with traffickers, salamanders and... bewildering elves.

144 pages - 12 x 18,5 cm

COLLECTION POIVRE NOIR

A detective story – suitable for 13-year-old children and over

Black Fury

Georges Foveau

Albert Leminot, the famous 15 and a half years of age budding detective from Marseille, was attending the Lamballe "Whodunit Festival" in Brittany, France. Quite against his will, he found himself involved in a strange tangle, with a whiff of terrifying African evil spells.

160 pages - 11 x 17,5 cm

COLLECTION POIVRE

A detective story suitable for 9-year-old children and over

Cliff hangers, a Freddy mystery

Jean-Hugues Oppel

On holiday in the Drome, the perils of rock climbing throw Freddy into another enquiry. Following the strange accident of a young but experienced climber and motivated by the beautiful eyes of a young girl, Freddy finds himself in the middle of a mystery. A mystery that seems to offer as few clues as it does climbing holds...

96 pages - 13 x 19 cm

An Indian stalks the marsh of Camargue

Georges Foveau

Albert's Summer holidays at the small Thomé farmhouse in the Camargue are coming to an end. Suddenly, a Black-foot there pops up a sorcerer who claims the return of a mysterious peace-pipe. Is the curse of the fire-spirits about to strike? Albert picks up the trail of the Indian, determined to track down that dangerous arsonist wherever he lurks in the marshes.

112 pages - 13 x 19 cm

Not stolen, found...

Zolma

For Johann, life is simple. Home, bus, school, bus, home. Until the day when a kid steals his mobile... A little Gypsy, younger than he is. The police do nothing. So Johann sets off alone to look for his telephone. During the adventure he will cross Davor's path. But the people who are with the boy seem very disturbing... An investigation which discovers squalor and sordid reality. No compromise.

96 pages - 13 x 19 cm

The Sainte-Victoire's been stolen !

Joël Rumello

Nico and Ben are twins. While Nico is the dribbling charger type, Ben has a reputation for daydreaming, but he's the smart one. One day, their uncle takes them on an excursion to the museum. That's when muddle and tangle break loose! An original painting by the famous Cézanne has disappeared. It is entitled "Sainte-Victoire"... the hitch is that the popular landscape artist from Aix has never painted it!

112 pages - 13 x 19 cm

Chinese riddles in the Panier district

Georges Foveau

Albert, a 13-year-old junior-high school-boy, enjoys nosing about his grandfather's attic. One day, he lays his hands on some clues that might well shed light on his uncle Toussaint's unexplained disappearance, 15 years ago. With the help of Maï Lin, his girl-friend, he sets out on a wild investigation deep into the mystifying district of the Panier in Marseille.

96 pages - 13 x 19 cm

Funny circus in the festival

Georges Foveau

The place: City of Avignon, Cité des Papes district, during the electrifying restlessness of the Summer festival. Albert and friends get to meet the strange artists of the Myster Circus, who, rumour has it, might well be child-snatchers! Our hero launches into breathless investigations.

96 pages - 13 x 19 cm

COLLECTION POIVRE

A detective story suitable for 9-year-old children and over

The Cursed Scroll

Marion Poirson

November of the year 1453. Powerless to help, Maguelone witnesses the arrest of a friend of her father's, the Doctor Ismael Levi, in Montpellier. He gives her a mysterious scroll which she must protect at the risk of her life. Will she be able to escape the traps set by Ismael's enemies and discover the secrets of the manuscript they are after? Why are they putting her life in danger? The second volume of Maguelone's adventures allows the reader to discover little known aspects of the Middle Ages: the fascinating world of the Kabbala and its secret codes, via an exploration of the medieval ghetto in Montpellier.

96 pages - 13 x 19 cm

Mystery in Cairo

Karine GIORDANA

Justin and Emily, French twins staying in Egypt for a few months, hear strange noises coming from their parents' apartment. A certain location has been placed off limits, but strange things seem to be happening there... Emboldened by their courage and curiosity, the brother and sister bring to light strange events that occurred almost a century ago on the archaeological excavation site of the ancient Pharaohs, Tanis.

112 pages - 13 x 19 cm

Stripes in the Night

Jean-Hugues Oppel

Taking advantage of his mother's professional network, Freddy is on a trip to India, staying in the land of Maharajas, sacred cows and small-eared elephants. His holiday in the Mudumalai animal reserve is everything he ever dreamt of until he suddenly finds himself bound hand and foot in the middle of the jungle, with night coming on and with the most beautiful and ferocious of predators stalking his prey, walking upright as always...

96 pages - 13 x 19 cm

The House of Demons

Marion Poirson

1453 in the city of Montpellier. Every night, in the Amiel sisters' house, strange appearances occur. A girl of twelve, Maguelone, tries to solve the mystery. This crime novel for young adults, full of action and suspense, plunges the reader into everyday life at the end of the Middle Ages in a town of southern France.

112 pages - 13 x 19 cm

Terror in Athens

Karine Giordana

After Cairo, Justin and Emily arrive in Athens. From the moment they get there, they feel torn between their passions and their new friends, to the extent that they quickly forget their Egyptian adventure. But mysterious messages suddenly appear in the dead of night on Emily's computer! An invisible and frightening minotaur with thousands of piercing eyes set up a terrifying treasure hunt... The intrepid twins leap unhesitatingly into a chase that will lead them to all the famous places of ancient Greece.

96 pages - 13 x 19 cm

House on Fire

Jean-Hugues OPPEL

In Switzerland the peaceful countryside of Neuchâtel is haunted by the dark ghosts of the past. Behind the postcard beauty of banks, cuckoo clocks and chocolate, death lurks. The enemy is fearsome and merciless and will do anything to protect his interests, even commit murder. The police seem powerless to foil his tricks and traps. Intrepid Freddy will have to display all his resources in order to defeat the sinister wiles of the enemy... because time is running out and now the house really is on fire!

96 pages - 13 x 19 cm